The McDaniel Commitment

For 150 years, we have prepared students to become leaders and visionaries in their industries. But as the world continues to change, we will strengthen our focus on developing students as a whole. The McDaniel Commitment—a series of opportunities promised to all students—will provide enhanced mentoring and coaching, and will ensure every undergraduate student completes at least two meaningful experiential learning opportunities. The McDaniel Commitment is our guarantee that the moment a student sets foot on the Hill will be the first step on a path to success. With your support, we will help students define:

My Place

Beginning with summer orientation, students develop a sense of belonging on campus, engage in team-building activities, and make connections in downtown Westminster. Mentored by upperclassmen, professors, and staff, students develop a growth mindset to nurture their personal and intellectual growth over the next four years and beyond.

My Experience

Hands-on, immersive experiences allow students to reflect on the intersection between theory and practice. Students can study overseas, engage in community based learning, intern with a local organization, conduct cutting edge research alongside a faculty member, or take on leadership roles on campus.

My Design

During their first January Term, students explore their strengths, identify areas of desired improvement, develop goals, and chart a purposeful path to help them cultivate their potential while at McDaniel. Through collaborative activities, self-reflection, and alumni connections, students articulate how a liberal arts education will help them achieve their goals.

My Career

Students plan for life beyond college, guided by purposeful coursework and with one-on-one coaching from our Center for Experience and Opportunity. They learn to write their best resumes, maximize online networking, and meet with alumni and other professionals as they prepare for their next steps after graduation.

Whether a student enrolls with a clear objective or is open to everything, the McDaniel Commitment means they will have the guidance they need to discover their true passions, forge their own paths, and become the version of themselves they always sensed they could be.
